CHINESE MARRIAGE NOT LEGAL IN COURT OF JUDGE WHITNEY

At a session of the juvenile court this morning, Judge William L. Whitney took up an investigation of the case of a young Chinese girl, a graduate of Oahu College and of the College of Hawali, who is seeking to recover the custody of her 4-year-old son who, soon after its birth, she gave into the care of a Hawalian family, the child not having been legally adopted by the latter.

According to the testimony of the Hawaiian and his wife, the Chinese girl, whom, it was brought out later. The real figures in my mind might married her husband according to the mark me down as a dreamer.

married her husband according to the Chinese custom, gave the child to the Hawaiians shortly after it was born and told them to keep it for her. The girl testified that, since that time, she has contributed regularly to the subport of the child, but now has come to the conclusion that she wants it back. The Hawaiians, she says, refuse to give up the youngster.

After listening to the alleged facts in the case, Judge Whitney was not inclined to be lenient with the girl, stating to her that the "Chinese custom of marriage does not cut any fice in the circuit court," and adding that she had best get an attorney and carry out the case in court.

"I predict that both the next senate and the house of representatives will be safely Republican. On Hawaii be safely Republican. On Hawaii there is a hard light being put us against Jim Lewis for senator, and in favor of Makekau, but advices from Hillo this morning show that the Republican candidate has the best chance of winging. Stephen Desha is safe as a winner. For the house, it is certain that the Democrats will elect no one from Hawaii, but it is possible that the Home Rulers may elect one man from the second district.
